Republic Co. Insists Men Were Sent Only As Observers

By The Associated Press
Seven employees of Republic Steel Corporation were named in warrants today after the steel workers' organizing committee charged they had attempted to "interfere" with the collective bargaining election in progress at Jones and Laughlin Corporation plants.

Republic announced it had sent the men only as observers at the largest election thus far supervised by the national labor relations board. The seven were charged with conspiracy to commit assault and carrying concealed weapons without a permit.

The balloting at the Pittsburgh and Aliquippa, Pa., Jones and Laughlin plants resembled a typical mill town municipal election as employees voted on whether they wished a Committee for Industrial Organization union to represent them in collective bargaining.

Results were expected to be announced tomorrow.

Plymouth Feels Strike

In Detroit, a strike stopped the assembly line in the Plymouth division of Chrysler Corporation.

Three thousand workers remained on strike at the fabrication mill of the Aluminum Company of America plant at Alcoa, Tenn., union officials said no effort would be made to close the company's carbon and reduction shop, where 1,000 still are employed, because it would cause expense and delay.

Employees of the No. 2 assembly plant of the Franklin car shops of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation ended a 24-hour walkout. Strike leaders said the settlement was based on a proposal the company would give them opportunity to earn a minimum of $5 more a day. The company said $50 had struck, strike leaders estimated the number at between 800 and 1,000.

Truce Returns Service

A truce providing for immediate negotiations of differences over wage rates resulted in restoration of electric service in 13 Michigan counties. A strike by employees of the Consumers Power Company at Saginaw caused suspension of service in Bay City, Flint, Saginaw and 190 smaller communities.

Negotiators will meet with Gov. Frank Murphy, who termed the strike "unnecessary." It was called by the United Automobile Workers of America.

The Federated Motion Picture crafts said its strike would be extended to 27 independent film producers at midnight unless they granted demands for a union shop. The studio crafts strike against major concerns reached its 21st day.

American Federation of Labor leaders made preparations for a meeting at Cincinnati Monday with representatives of 106 unions. There were indications President Green would propose a unionization campaign in mass production industries to combat the C. I. O.

Scattered strikes in Indiana made approximately 9,000 workers idle. An estimated 7,000 of them were employees of the Studebaker Motor Co., at South Bend. The latter dispute involved a union protest against non-union employees.

Weed Eradicator

Salt Lake, May 20.—(AP)—Every home owner in the country will want to borrow E. T. Jones' tortoise after he reads this.

The reptile, a desert product named Togo with a claimed age of 165 years, has been given the run of Jones' yard for the past 14 years—and for a good reason. He eats up all the dandelions.

Fire Raging Uncontrolled Today In Philippine Mine Town; 2 Dead

Manila, May 20.—(AP)—Fire raged uncontrolled in the town of Paracale today, causing two known deaths, injuring an undetermined number of persons, destroying 200 buildings and making 2,000 homeless.

The flames centered in the hotel section of the gold mining town 150 miles east of Manila in Camarines Norte province.

Reports to the Daily Bulletin indicated first estimates of loss were exaggerated. Later figures of damage ranged from $250,000 to $350,000.

Red Cross workers, men of the Philippine army and conscript soldiers from a nearby training camp aided in giving relief to the homeless and injured, and halted looting

GERMAN RAIDERS SCARE BASQUES; HUNDREDS FLEE

Defenders Protest To Non-Intervention Committee Again

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish Frontier, May 20.—(AP)—Insurgent air raiders sent the Basque population into panicky search for refuge over the whole Bilbao front today while Basques, reinforced by Santander troops, fought to recapture Mount Gondramendi from the insurgent armies.

The mountain, northeast of Bilbao and about 10 miles from the capital, was taken by insurgents yesterday. They held to the crest today in hard fighting.

Some insurgent newspaper reports said the insurgent bombers had wrecked "scores" of ships in the Nervion river, which connect Bilbao with the Bay of Biscay. It was not stated if any were refugee ships.

An Italian tank column, fighting with the insurgents, was advancing on Munguia, nine miles northeast of Bilbao on the Bermeo road. The town already was reported virtually levelled by insurgent air bombs.

Column Stalled

Bilbao commanders declared one of Gen. Emilio Mola's columns had stalled against the reformed defense line in its thrust from fallen, half-mined Amorebieta, about eight miles east by southeast from the tottering Basque capital.

An insurgent communiqué said Mola's forces captured Mount Gondramendi and six villages in an advance.

Suicide Decline Attributed To Brighter Times

Springfield, Ill., May 20.—(AP)—Attributing the drop to improved economic conditions, the public health department reported today 1,170 persons committed suicide in Illinois last year, the lowest rate since 1929.

The suicide rate was 15 per 100,000 population. For the years 1930-1935 the rate was 18, 18.3, 18.2, 17, 16.8 and 15.6.

"This rise and fall in the suicide rate undoubtedly reflects the cyclic changes in economic conditions," a department report stated.

The number of persons taking their lives last year compared with 1,244 in 1935 and 1,323 in 1934.

Suicides have ranged above 1,600 annually since 1925, the highest being 1,424 in 1932.

GUARD TOUR-IST SLAYERS CONSTANTLY

Authorities Fear An Attempt at Self-Destruction

Lonoke, Ark., May 20.—(AP)—Alert jailers kept a "suicide watch" today over Lester Brockelhurst, 23, and Bernice Felton, 18, while court officials hastened plans to try them on a charge of slaying Victor Gates, wealthy landowner.

Sheriff Troy Carroll said he ordered the watch because the girl reportedly had threatened to commit suicide. He said the man told him that if Bernice ended her life, he would do the same.

The two were kept in separate cells in the jail on the fourth floor of this country's comparatively new $100,000 courthouse. They were allowed to eat their first meal together but exchanged no words.

They were brought here under heavy guard late yesterday from Poughkeepsie, N. Y., traveling the last 24 miles from Little Rock by automobile over the same route Gates drove to his death two weeks ago.

Sheriff Carroll said Brockelhurst calmly pointed out the exact spot on the highway at which he said he fired a bullet into the back of Gates' head.

Glasses in Ditch

"You'll find his spectacles in the weeds in that ditch," the sheriff told his prisoner. "I threw them there after I shot him."

Prosecuting Attorney George Hartje, who said he would demand death for both prisoners, came here today to file formal information against them in Circuit Court. He said both would be charged with first degree murder, with Brockelhurst named as the actual slayer and the Felton girl as accessory before the fact.

Circuit Judge W. J. Waggoner said the two probably would be arraigned Monday or Tuesday. He said if they were unable to employ counsel he would name two lawyers for each of them. He predicted their trial would be held within two or three weeks.

Brockelhurst fainting on the court house steps last night. Sheriff Carroll said the man fainted frequently on the train trip south. The officer said he had determined these attacks were the result of a heart condition.

LOWDENS BACK FROM GERMANY; FEAR FOR CORN

New York, May 20.—(AP)—Former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois returned from six weeks in Germany today anxious about whether the cold weather had damaged his corn.

Arriving on the liner Bremen, the former governor said he would leave today for Chicago and then go to his farm near Oregon, Ill.

"I want to see if this cold weather here has frozen my corn," he said.

He was accompanied by Mrs. Lowden and Alanson B. Houghton, former ambassador to Great Britain and Germany. They stayed at Baden-Baden.

Asked whether he brought back any impressions of Germany, Lowden replied:

"When you get up in the morning and get 'friction baths' and climb mountains for an hour before breakfast, then take more baths and climb more mountains, you don't have much time to see what's going on in Europe."

Lowden, who is a member of the board of the foreign bondholders' protective council, said he was not familiar with the new securities and exchange commission proposals relating to qualifications for membership on the board.

Houghton said Germany "looks prosperous and contented."

"Germany is improving very rapidly industrially," he added.

Close Senate Advisors Today Urged President To Withdraw Court Bill

Talk of Compromise Increases Throughout Capital

By The Associated Press

Washington, May 20.—President Roosevelt's closest Senate advisors urged him today to withdraw his court reorganization bill or restrict it to two additional justices.

They argued that the original bill no longer was needed, because the court is construing the Constitution more broadly and because Justice Van Devanter's retirement is approaching.

Roosevelt still gave no public indication that he would yield. Many Senators predicted he would stand firm until the Supreme Court decides the constitutionality of the social security law.

There were indications, however, of private negotiations for a compromise. Administration leaders in the Senate certainly were talking it.

Calls Republicans

The President himself called Senator Nye (R-ND) to the White House yesterday for a conference, which Nye would not discuss afterwards.

The North Dakotan, one of the last Republican senators to declare against the Roosevelt bill, frequently has criticized the Supreme Court. He long has been associated with Senators Norris (Ind-Neb) and La Follette (Wis), both of whom are supporting the court bill.

Word was passed around the Senate that the President discussed with Nye a compromise on two, instead of six, new Supreme Court justices.

Senator Frazier (R-ND), also was understood to have received a White House invitation.

TVA Asks Early Ruling On Right To Create Power

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—The Tennessee Valley Authority asked the Supreme Court today for an early ruling on its right to conduct its activities in the states of Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia.

It filed an appeal from part of a recent ruling by the sixth Circuit Court of Appeals sending back to eastern Tennessee Federal district court for trial a suit brought by 19 power companies to stop TVA's program.

The Circuit court also ruled that a temporary injunction halting expansion of the TVA, granted by the district court, was against public interest.

TVA did not appeal from that part of the decision but declared that further proceedings in the district court were unnecessary for a final ruling by the Supreme Court.

The Circuit Court decision was rendered May 14 at Covington, Ky. The power companies earlier had obtained from Federal Judge Gore of the Tennessee district court an injunction against TVA proceeding with its operations.

The Georgia Power company filed an appeal yesterday with the high tribunal from a ruling by the fifth Circuit Court at New Orleans permitting the TVA to continue operating in Georgia.

Fibley Suggests 82 Amendments To Trucks, Busses Bill

Springfield, Ill., May 20.—(AP)—Eighty-two suggested changes in the bill to place trucks and buses under the supervision of the Illinois Commerce Commission were in the hands of the printer today and several more were expected by the sponsor, Sen. John W. Fibley, Pana Democrat.

Fibley expressed the opinion that the number of amendments already offered was a near record for any single bill.

Two joint hearings have been held by the House and Senate public utilities committees and the amendments are to be discussed at a committee meeting Tuesday.

Despite his blindness, Ice was acclaimed recently the outstanding law student in the university. Members of the student editorial board were selected by the faculty of the law school.

after the conclusion of the trial of the 44 before a military collegium of the supreme court.

A communiqué published in the newspaper, Pacific Star, at Khabarovsk, on the Manchoukwan-Siberian border, 450 miles north of Vladivostok, said:

"A military collegium of the supreme court of the U. S. S. R. has examined the case of a group of Trotskyist espionage diversionsists which acted under the leadership and according to the orders of the Japanese secret service in organizing railroad wrecks in the Far East."

The communiqué added that the 43 men and one woman had been condemned to death and "the sentence has been carried out."

Seeks Court Order to Release Youth at State Hospital

Habeas corpus proceedings have been filed with Circuit Clerk Edwin S. Rosecrans by Attorney Charles A. Nichol of Chicago, representing John Healy, Dixon state hospital patient, against Dr. Warren G. Murray, managing officer of the local state institution, which will be heard before Judge Harry Edwards in the circuit court Saturday.

The petition charges that John Healy, aged 21, is unlawfully detained and restrained of his liberty by Dr. Murray, without any authority of law or by reason of a pretended decree of the municipal court of the city of Chicago. The pretended decree, the petition states, insofar as it determines the custody of the youth, is wholly void and of no effect; that the boy is of tender years and requires personal attention for his proper upbringing.

John Healy, an uncle residing in Chicago, is financially able to adequately care for, support, maintain and educate the youth, and both he and his wife are willing and desire to do so, the petition relates.

43 Men, One Woman, Executed by Soviet Government in Mass Order

Moscow, May 20.—(AP)—The Soviet government was disclosed today to have carried out the greatest mass execution of spies in three years, shooting 43 men and one woman convicted of espionage and sabotage plots, allegedly "under the orders of the Japanese secret service."

The spies were lined up before firing squads at Sverdlovsky in the Far East on May 9.

The executions were the first of their type to be carried out since Joseph Stalin, secretary-General of the Communist party, last March called for greater vigilance to wipe out spying and sabotage and declared "the enemy must be exterminated mercilessly."

MISSING FARMER FOUND IN SILO

BY LEE SHERIFF

Howard Eddy Claimed to Have Been Made Ill By Smoking Pipe

Howard Eddy, alias Peifer, alias Fletcher, farm hand who yesterday was reported to have suddenly disappeared from the farm of Joy Atkinson in Nelson township about noon Tuesday, was found yesterday afternoon by Sheriff Ward Miller in the silo on the farm where he has been employed for the past month. Eddy crawled out of the silo to be questioned by the sheriff and stated that he had not tasted food for almost 36 hours, because he had become ill from the effects of smoking a new pipe.

During the questioning, it developed that the 38-year-old farm hand had given an assumed name when he secured employment at the Atkinson farm, and prior to that time had used another alias when he worked in a Sterling manufacturing plant for a few days. Difficulties with members of his family, living in Michigan, the farm hand gave as his reason for using assumed names, stating that

Russell Selected Most Regular Guy

Urbana, Ill., May 20.—(AP)—Prof. Fred Russell of the University of Illinois department of business organization sported a brown derby today.

It symbolized the opinion of members of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity, that he was "the most regular guy on the campus." He was given the award last night at the fraternity's gridiron banquet, when students and instructors alike received their share of "roasting."

Most of the skits presented before the 250 guests shot bars at the Illinois plan of coordination; describing it as a "vast enterprise designed to remedy the university's greatest weakness—lack of students."

The I. P. C. was formulated to link more closely the alumni, undergraduates and faculty.

CARDINAL UPHELD

Chicago, May 20.—(AP)—Leaders of three religious sects upheld George Cardinal Mundelein today in his stand against Nazi Germany's attitude toward the church as the German embassy made informal representations to the state department at Washington.

The Cardinal's stand was supported by Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of the Chicago area, Methodist Episcopal church; Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Chicago diocese of the Episcopal church; and Dr. George Fox, president of the Chicago Rabbinical Association.

ZEP CAPTAIN TIGHT-LIPPED ON DISASTER

Lakehurst, N. J., May 20.—(AP)—One of the Graf Zeppelin's commanders, who made the Hindenburg's last voyage as an observer, described today how unaware were those in the control car of the first moments of disaster.

The explosion which accompanied the outbreak of the destructive fire May 6 sounded like a "dull thud" in the control car where all hands were intent on landing maneuvers, he said. The "thud" sounded as if a landing rope had parted, he said.

The witness, Captain Anton Witemann, tight-lipped, unsmiling, and wearing tight glasses, gave the department of commerce investigating board its first broad picture of what happened in the control car when disaster struck.

Pressed to give his ideas on possible reasons for the accident, Witemann said there could be "a hundred reasons."

Reluctantly he then suggested that a short circuit or careless handling of incendiary material were possible causes but "both of these presuppose an explosive mixture of hydrogen in the vicinity."

Later he commented: "I would feel relieved if I could give reasons for the accident but the whole affair is a complete mystery to me."

NAZI ENVOY'S PROTEST OVER SPEECH FILED

Representations Concerning Cardinal's Address Voiced

Berlin, May 20.—(AP)—"Energetic representations" to the United States government by Dr. Hans H. Dieckhoff, the German ambassador to Washington, were disclosed today as Nazi Germany's newest reaction to an anti-Hitler speech by George Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago.

An official communiqué issued by the German news agency, D. N. B., said:

"The German embassy at Washington made energetic representations in the state department on account of the silly and reckless insults to the Fuehrer and Reichschancellor by Chicago Cardinal Mundelein."

An official spokesman, discussing the protest, said Dr. Dieckhoff's general instructions to stand for no "insults" to Adolf Hitler and his regime were explicit, and that the Mundelein representations "followed automatically in the wake of his duties."

Cardinal Mundelein, on Tuesday, said in a diocesan speech at Chicago that the German trials of priests and lay brothers on immorality charges constituted propaganda worse than the atrocities tales of the World War.

NO FORMAL ORDERS

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—The German embassy has made informal representations to the state department over criticisms voiced by Cardinal Mundelein, at Chicago, against Chancellor Hitler and Germany's Nazi regime.

This was learned today coincident with a statement by embassy officials that Ambassador Hans H. Dieckhoff had not thus far received instructions from his government to make a formal protest.

Subsequently Dieckhoff, after a brief courtesy call on Wilbur J. Carr, Assistant Secretary of State, told newsmen that the representation by the embassy on its own initiative seemed to close the incident as far as his government was concerned.

Secretary Hull said at his press conference that the character of the representations did not call for a reply by this government. Had they been of a formal nature, diplomatic custom would have required the state department to make some rejoinder.

Mundelein's anti-Nazi remarks, in which he referred to Hitler as "an Austrian paper hanger, and a poor one at that," was called to the attention of James Clement Dunn, chief of the state department's western European division, by Doctor Hans Thomsen, counselor of the German embassy, yesterday.

Cardinal's stand was supported by Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of the Chicago area, Methodist Episcopal church; Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Chicago diocese of the Episcopal church; and Dr. George Fox, president of the Chicago Rabbinical Association.

GRADUATED WAGE SCALE FOR MILK DRIVERS URGED

Union Drivers Voting On Proposal Today In Suburbs

Chicago, May 20—(AP)—Union milk wagon drivers in Chicago and its suburbs balloted today on acceptance of a graduated scale of wage and commission increases drafted in conferences between the union and the associated milk dealers.

Paul A. Potter, executive secretary of the dealers' association, said the proposed increases would have no immediate effect on retail prices but that it "is bound to affect retail prices before the end of the summer."

Robert Fitchie, president of the milk wagon drivers' union, said the increases would graduate from the present $43 weekly up to $48 weekly in three years. Sales commissions also would be increased but he declined to discuss the details pending the outcome of the referendum.

He said the wage negotiations affected between 5,600 and 5,800 drivers. Drivers in nearby cities, including Waukegan, are not members of the Chicago local but are affiliated with the International Brotherhood of Teamsters as are the Chicago drivers. Fitchie said the nearby locals were "waiting to see what happens here" before pressing wage increase requests.

Near Key Point

The advanced line just west of Amorebieta was about five miles from Galdacano, a key point in the city's "little Maginot line" of steel and concrete fortifications and trenches forming a protective semicircle against the push of the insurgent legions.

"German aviation at the service of the rebels continues action against Munguia, Larrauri, Maruri, Larrabeza and Plencia (Basque towns), dropping a great number of incendiary grenades and machine gunning the civilian population which, menaced by death, must flee into the fields, thus causing numerous victims, especially women and children."

Nonagenarian Man Who Astonished Medical World Is Dead, Aged 97

New Bern, N. C., May 20. (AP)—George Isaac Hughes, whose record of becoming a father twice after passing his 94th birthday astonished the medical world, died today at the age of 97.

His 29-year-old second wife and their two babies, Franklin Roosevelt Hughes, 29 months old, and Mary Gertrude, about a year ago, as well as children by his first wife, were at the bedside.

Hughes, a Confederate veteran, had been in failing health for several months. He became seriously ill after a heart attack last Sunday.

Led Strenuous Life
After the birth of his baby daughter a year ago, the nonagenarian led a strenuous life for a time. He attended a baby show at Goldsboro in which his 16-month old son, Franklin, was entered, and later he and the boy were attractions at a festival in Asheville. Afterwards Hughes went to New York to appear on a national radio program.

Hughes had 16 children by his first wife. The spread of time between his eldest and his youngest was 63 years.

300TH BIRTHDAY OF MARQUETTE NOT CERTAIN
Washington, May 20. (AP)—Senator Prentiss M. Brown of Michigan demanded today historians agree on a proper date on which to commemorate Pere Jacques Marquette's 300th birthday.

"Your letter of the 18th again changing date received. Would like to know definitely that there will be no further changes in the date. Wire me if June 10 is definite." Brown wired Miss Agnes E. MacLaren, of the Pere Marquette pageant committee, Ludington, Mich.

Senator J. Hamilton Lewis (D-Ill.) has introduced a resolution asking the president to proclaim June 10 as the date for nationwide observance of the 300th birthday of the explorer and missionary. Brown, in accordance with the request of the Ludington committee, arranged appropriate ceremonies to be held in Saturday hall at the capitol.

Other schools of thought developed. The Ludington committee wrote Brown June 1 was the correct date. Brown straightened out his invitations reworded his request to the president and prepared to amend the senate resolution.

Today Miss MacLaren wrote Brown she had concluded June 10 would do after all. She said the decision was reached after Robert J. Goetz, executive secretary of the anniversary celebration of Marquette university, found historical data supporting both dates.

LEADERS MOVING TO POSTPONE AAA PLAN ENACTMENT

Congress Of Opinion Delay Will Assist Economy Moves

Washington, May 20. (AP)—A movement to postpone action until next year on the agricultural adjustment program drafted by farm organizations developed today among congressional leaders.

They pointed out that a delay would aid the economy campaign and would give farmers time to study legislation which combines authorization for production control, soil conservation, limited crop insurance and an "ever-normal" granary.

The cost might be between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000 greater than the present soil conservation program, said American farm bureau officials.

Although final decision lay with President Roosevelt, Secretary Wallace said yesterday he hoped a broad federal program along the lines of that bill would be enacted at this session.

Wallace expressed belief it was too early to consider whether some features would be held constitutional.

The objective of the groups supporting the bill is a return of the "good old days" of American agriculture—the pre-war years of 1909-14.

In those years, the sponsors explain, farm commodities had a fair buying power. In other words, there existed a proper and just relationship between prices of farm products and prices of goods and services that farmers usually buy.

FOR HAPPIER LIVES IN DIXON

After all, when a baby appears on this earth about the best thing we can wish him is a happy life. There is no point in wishing him a long one if it is not to be happy. Some of those babies must be born to lead other than happy lives if this world is to be governed and guided and progressed, because those who govern and guide and make progress are not always the ones who lead really happy lives. But the foregoing is beside the point we would like to make. So many, many children are born who should have happy and useful lives but do not. Perhaps many of them could be saved for a happy and useful life if the rest of us took a real interest in them.

Dixon is certainly at least an average city, and those of us who know it well think that Dixon is much better than the average, but we must admit that in one respect we have our problems regarding the growing boy who needs guidance to keep him out of trouble that may make his life anything but happy and successful. We speak of the boy who will, without our help, eventually become delinquent. So many boys (and girls) who reach this stage never come back to normal, respectable or useful citizenship. They are apt to spend their lives getting in and out of prison, preying upon society and providing an added problem to the peace officials' job of protecting law-abiding citizens from thievery, banditry, assault and other forms of violence.

When we read in The Telegraph that some young so-and-so, along with the rest of his gang, has committed depredations such as wantonly damaging property, raiding some little store, engaging in a gang fight or has helped swipe food out of the back-porch ice box, we are inclined to decide that the whelp is no good and never will be and that he should be locked up now because sooner or later he will do greater and more serious damage. In most cases this is not so. In the greater number of cases the youngster who gives all the indications of being a bigger and better Jesse James or Captain Kidd when he grows up has the makings of the finest kind of a man in him if we will just make a chance for him. We say "make a chance" rather than "give him a chance."

There may be many reasons why the youngster goes "wrong". And many times those causes can be removed and a human life turned into happiness and success instead of disaster to the boy and also injury to the rest of us.

In Jersey City, N. J., six years ago, the city administration started an experiment which has paid tremendous dividends in human happiness. Juvenile delinquency had reached such great proportions that Mayor Frank Hague was shocked into action. He inaugurated a plan whereby only 36 juveniles were sent to correctional institutions last year as compared to 600 in 1930. His plan to save youngsters for useful and happy lives lived out with the rest of us instead of looking through prison bars was this:

A "Bureau of Special Service" (a name chosen to avoid any suggestion of delinquency) was formed. In Jersey City the organization was headed by a school official. Public school officials deal with youths at the age when they can be guided and helped. This Bureau is staffed also by a squad of truancy officers, a number of visiting teachers, plain-clothes men, a clinic manned by a doctor, a dentist, nurses, a psychologist and a psychiatrist. All staff members are trained and selected for tact and discretion.

The aim of the Bureau is to prevent crime rather than catch offenders. No juvenile offender of the criminal code is ever arrested by a policeman, and led across town to make him a hero in the eyes of the rest of his gang. He is called into the Bureau for a conference and a careful investigation of his home life and the contributing causes of his offense is made. There is no disgrace connected with being asked to come to the Bureau headquarters for a conference. Often the youngster is called in for an examination of his eyes, his teeth or other physical conditions. The Jersey City Bureau has found that many a boy has quit school because poor eye-sight or poor hearing made him appear stupid, caused him to flunk in school and even resulted in flouting and abuse at home.

Quitting school then becomes the natural next step. He is made fun of at school as the class-room's dunce. He'll never go back there. His home is not a haven from his troubles. And so you can very easily realize what his troubles and perplexities will cause him to gravitate toward—companionship that will welcome him—exciting fun in escapades frowned upon by the law—and then—real crime.

A pair of glasses might save that boy from the galls. Scientific investigation has proved it. Furthermore, that same pair of glasses might save you or one of your dear ones from the damage caused when that boy's inability to adjust himself to society started him off on a career of crime.

Investigation of the home conditions of any boy or girl who starts out on a career that is outside of the law may save many a life for future usefulness and happiness. Maybe a drunken father has made life at home intolerable. Perhaps there is no father and a wanton mother has made the home impossible for any child with instincts of respectability. Such children are almost bound to go wrong unless we give them help.

In Jersey City no juvenile offender comes before the courts until the "Bureau" has made a careful examination of the reasons why any young offender has the law's eyes upon him. The reasons why he has broken society's laws are thoroughly examined, without publicity, and every possible effort is made to correct the underlying causes of his delinquency and bring him back to a normal state of living. When all other means fail, the delinquent is taken into the county court in a secret meeting before he is finally brought out into the open as a criminal.

That last step, where the boy is branded as a convict, is usually fatal to that boy's future.

There is no doubt that if we will take the trouble to give help to erring youth at the right time many of them will be saved to become useful, upright citizens. A program such as Jersey City has should be inaugurated in every city in the land. We should have it here in a small way. When the services of a psychologist or a psychiatrist are needed they can be found either at the state institutions in Dixon or in Chicago. Physicians and dentists would gladly give the time necessary to make examinations and funds could be raised to pay for necessary treatment and buy needed eye-glasses, etc.

The school nurse program in Dixon is doing a great lot of good in this line and has undoubtedly kept many children in school by locating and helping physical ailments. The youngster who is not going to school probably needs the most help.

BIG WELCOME FOR CHICAGO-DIXON CLUB ARRANGED

Homecoming Program Is Rapidly Reaching Final Stage

Chairmen of the six Homecoming committees for the Junior Association of Commerce sponsored Homecoming here Monday, July 5, met in the office of Fred Hofmann, general chairman, Wednesday, with Mayor William V. Slothower and Chief of Police J. D. VanBibber. A welcoming ceremony for the Chicago Dixon club which is sending out a delegation of 400 members on a special train, was discussed. The reception and registration committee headed by Courtney Ryan was present. Those on the reception committee include besides Ryan, James Ketchin and William Hanson.

It is planned to have the Dixon Municipal band stationed on River street to meet the train and to furnish music throughout the afternoon. As one of the Dixon Chicago club members will be observing his thirty-first wedding anniversary on Homecoming Day, a mock wedding will be arranged to make him feel at home.

Softball Game Discussed

Arrangements are being made to stage a Dixon-Chicago softball game on that day, the game to be played in the afternoon. A caravan parade and tour of the city will be held in the morning for all Homecomers who arrive early. The special train from Chicago will be decorated with bunting and other insignia and will toot lustily all the way to Dixon, members of the Chicago club promised Hofmann who interviewed officials of that organization Sunday.

It is expected that detailed programs will be ready for distribution sometime this week and all committees are now busily at work on the gigantic affair.

Chairmen attending the meeting Wednesday were Edwin Elchler and Carl Matson of the finance committee; John Cornwell, transportation; Jack Fritzen, publicity and advertising; D. Montgomery, food; Courtney Ryan, reception and registration, and Robert Eno, entertainment.

EXPECT FEDERAL DEFICIT TO BE REDUCED SOME

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—A budget bureau tally of results of the administration's year-end economy campaign led some authorities here to forecast a reduction in the estimated $2,557,000,000 Federal deficit. President Roosevelt told his press conference that departments had cooperated in shaving expenditures between May 1 and the end of the fiscal year July 1.

Daniel W. Bell, acting budget director, said the exact savings could not be made public until reports from individual departments have been summarized.

The reports were made in response to a letter from the President in April demanding "an immediate curtailment of expenditures." Bell said some departments had not attempted to give estimates of savings in dollars and cents, but merely had advised they were "not spending a single dollar that isn't absolutely necessary."

Fiscal authorities awaited Bell's summary for an indication of how much higher the public debt will go by July 1. It reached a new peak of $35,096,164.000 on May 15.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

A fascinating pastime with "THE MARKS OF A CLEAR MIND"

Albert Edward Wiggam, S.Sc.

Author of

"THE MARKS OF A CLEAR MIND"

"The keenest anguish known to human nature is the pain of a new idea." (Bagehot). We hope this column brings you pain.

Answer to Question No. 1

11. The only answer to this is that some women can and some cannot. It depends both on the wife and the husband. For women who are not of the "home body" type, outside work keeps their nerves from "jangling out of tune" and keeps their digestions and tempers liveable—both for themselves and their husbands. Of course, if there are children the problem is far more difficult and, unless the parents earn enough to keep a nurse or maid, well-nigh impossible. It is just one of those problems in marriage for which no settled formula can be laid down.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. This is a huge question. Education brings with it both the ecstasies and responsibilities of knowledge. It brings the keenest happiness but often mixed with the keenest pain known to human nature. It is education that mainly determines man's rank in nature—parents earn enough to keep a pain and pleasure. But after all, it pays an infinite usury—it is worth a thousand times what it costs, because it gives us a higher kind of happiness than the ignorant contented man can ever have.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Arthur Murray, leading dance authority, asserts that extraverts make far and away the best dancing teachers and one is bound to infer that extraverts must be the better dancers. He gives all his applicants for teaching dancing a "Personality Inventory" which measures how well one is adjusted to life and whether one is introvert or extravert. Since Mr. Murray has found only three persons out of 50,000 he could not teach to dance, it shows the extreme introvert.

SELF-CONFIDENCE and How to Develop It

This booklet is in many respects the greatest yet offered by Dr. Albert Edward Wiggam, in connection with "Let's Explore Your Mind." It contains TEN RULES, each scientifically tested and presented in clear, easily understood words. Included is a self-rating Self-Confidence, or Personality Comparison chart. The essence of the booklet is the work of Dr. David Mitchell, distinguished consulting psychologist. This booklet is issued without profit as a service to readers. A charge of 10c is made to cover costs. Enclose a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed return envelope. Address Dr. Albert Edward Wiggam in care of this newspaper. Just ask for SELF-CONFIDENCE.

Idaho Baseball Team Continues Losing Contests

Lewiston, Idaho, May 20.—(AP)—The dubious distinction of setting a new losing streak among major and minor league baseball clubs—21 games—was claimed here today. The Lewiston Indians of the new Western International baseball league, lost their 21st game last night to the Yakima, Wash., Pippins, 31 to 2.

Available records show the Boston Americans lost 20 consecutive games in 1906 and the Philadelphia Americans the same number in 1916.

Recruiting for the army does not show any increase in those parts of the country where employment is scarce, contrary to popular belief.

Sibley is 52, deeply religious and very active in the Episcopal church and charitable organizations. He has extensive farm properties in New York, California, Canada and Montana. He inherited a considerable fortune, which he greatly increased. Both he and Mrs. Sibley have become very fond of Washington's official and social life.

Tax Evader

Even members of the U. S. Board of Tax Appeals, arbiters of tax controversies that run into millions annually, have troubles with the income tax collector.

John M. Sternhagen has been a member of the board since its creation in 1924. He is very meticulous. He believes in paying the government everything due it, but not once cent more. To this end he carries with him a little black book, in which, each day, he records the precise amount of his expenditures that go for taxes—such as luxury imposts, gasoline taxes, etc.

Under the law it is legal to deduct federal taxes from income tax returns. So when he made out his return, Sternhagen carefully deducted the "nuisance taxes he had paid during the previous year."

A few weeks later, lunching with an Internal Revenue Bureau official, Sternhagen related what he had done and boasted of the accuracy of his return. "That's one return," he said, "there won't be any come-back on."

His friend said nothing, but when he returned to his office he checked the law and found, as he suspected, that the 1-cent per gallon gas tax is not deductible because it is classed as a manufacturer's excise tax.

A few days later he told Sternhagen about the error. The tax board member contended he was right, but promised to look up the law. He did—and the next day he walked into the office of his internal revenue friend and laid down a check for the few cents he had incorrectly deducted.

Merry-Go-Round

Charles F. Pace, veteran financial officer of the senate, has a unique record in the government service. In the 24 years he has held his post he has never had an account challenged or disallowed. Also, he is doing the work of his office with the same number of employees he had when appointed in 1913. Pace favors a pension system for congressional workers with 15 or more years service. At present this class of government employees is excluded from all pension provisions. . . . The disclosure that Commissioner Basil Manly had been voted out of the vice chairmanship of the Federal Power Commission after holding the job three years, stirred up a hot row in the agency. The commission finally issued a formal statement denying that Manly's deposition was due to internal dissension. . . . Fellow Tammanyites are telling friends that Representative Samuel Dickstein is taking so hard the refusal of the House to approve his proposed Nazi investigation that he is ready to give up his seat, and has made quiet overtures to Wigwam moguls for an appointment to a New York judgeship.

WINDSOR WILL FIGHT BACK AT HIS OPPONENTS

Thinks Critics Seek To Reduce Influence of His Brother

Paris, May 20.—(AP)—Persons close to the Duke of Windsor reported today the abdicated British monarch was determined to fight back at his critics in England.

At the same time, these sources said, former King Edward VIII would do all in his power to bolster the royal family's position in the government.

The Duke was represented as believing certain quarters were trying to reduce the influence of his brother and successor, King George VI.

These quarters, the Duke was said to feel, were the same ones that caused him to abdicate and go into exile because of their opposition to his marriage with Mrs. Wallis Warfield.

Edward, who lost his own fight to keep the crown and marry "the woman I love," intended to do all possible to help his brother hold fast to some of his royal rights, the sources close to him said.

Fired Opening Gun
Close friends of Windsor, victor in a dispute with the British government over the right of his bride-to-be to have the title of "her Royal Highness," said they considered the opening gun of his fight was fired yesterday from the Chateau de Candé where he is living in voluntary exile.

A few hours after the last legal obstacles to his wedding were cleared away, Windsor's spokesman, Herman L. Rogers, announced the reason no members of the royal family were coming to the wedding June 3 was that "probably the King was advised not to send anyone."

The statement that Windsor was thwarted because the king was advised not to grant his wish, his friends said, could be considered as being directly from the Duke, despite Rogers' statement it was but his own "personal opinion."

Assured of Title
Earlier, Rogers had announced the Duke's victory over the title to be borne by Mrs. Warfield with a statement she was assured of becoming Her Royal Highness "before noon June 3."

The spokesman indicated the British government had compromised by withdrawing objection to her becoming "royal" but at the same time convincing the king no member of the royal family should attend the wedding.

WILL MEET FAMILY
Monts, France, May 20.—(AP)—A close friend of the Duke of Windsor said today that he and Wallis Warfield would be met on their honeymoon by several members of the British royal family.

After June 3, when the former monarch and Mrs. Warfield are married, this source said, they will leave the Chateau de Candé immediately by automobile for Rome.

The reunion with Edward's family will take place there, it is maintained, declared. He did not disclose, however, what members of royalty would be present.

The bridal couple, then to be their Royal Highnesses, the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, will stay three days at the French shore resort and then sail for Yugoslavian waters by yacht.

After a tour of the Dalmatian coast, where Edward as king and Wallis as Mrs. Simpson spent a vacation last summer, they will go to Wasserloenburg castle in Austria.

Seeking Clergyman
Although the Duke and Mrs. Warfield are trying to find an Anglican clergyman to marry them in a religious wedding after their civil marriage, friends said the union would not have the blessing of the Church of England.

The constant unwillingness of the church to sanction the marriage was said to be the reason that Edward, despite a diligent search, has been unable to find an Anglican priest willing to perform the ceremony.

The Church of England, furthermore, has a general rule against its clergy officiating at the remarriage of divorced persons, they pointed out.

Herman L. Rogers, the spokesman, said several Anglican pastors who had been asked to officiate had declined. But from other sources it was learned that Rev. C. H. D. Grimes, pastor of the Anglican church in Vienna, might be chosen.

(Anglican church officials at one time questioned Mr. Grimes as to why he permitted the Duke to read a Christmas scripture lesson from the lectern of his church last December. The Church of England was one of the chief opponents of Edward's desire to marry Mrs. Warfield.)

Wedding Guests
Rogers said an unofficial list of wedding guests, about which he was questioned, could be considered "reasonably correct."

It included: Lord and Lady Selby, Sir Walter T. Monckton, attorney general for the Duchy of Cornwall and Windsor's legal adviser; Lady Monckton, Baron Brownlow, a companion of Edward's self-imposed exile, Lady Brownlow, Major Metcalfe, Lady Metcalfe, Capt. Edward Hedley Fielden, the Duke's pilot; Mrs. Fielden, Major Ullick Alexander, formerly the Duke of Kent's controller; Colonel Piers Legh, the former King's equerry; Sir Godfrey Thomas, his former private secretary; Lady Thomas, Capt. W. D. C. Greenacre, an equerry of the Duke; and Mrs. D. Buchanan Merryman of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Warfield's aunt.

WARDEN OF SING SING SPEAKS FOR SCOUT JAMBOREE

Believes Scouting Is Factor In Reducing Crime Wave

Lewis E. Lawes, warden of Sing Sing prison for the past 18 years, believes that the National Scout Jamboree to be held in Washington, D. C., June 30 to July 9, provides an unusual opportunity for Americans "to perform a constructive service for our future manhood."

The Jamboree, he says, will be one of the greatest events in the history of American boyhood. It will bring together more than 25,000 boys of every state in the nation and from 24 foreign lands for 10 days of camping together, pageants, excursions and fellowship at their 350-acre "tented city" on both banks of the Potomac river.

"Today, in many communities of the country," Warden Lawes said, "boys are preparing to go to this great Jamboree. But, there will be countless others who though willing and desiring to attend, will not be able to do so because of economic reasons. Permit me, therefore, to make the following proposal, which I assure you is my own, and not suggested to me by the National Boy Scout organization:

"May I propose that citizens provide the means which will enable at least one Scout from every community to attend the Jamboree?"

Believes Scouting Vital
Warden Lawes feels that in its 27 years the Boy Scouts of America has become a vital force in American life, having touched the lives of more than seven and a half million boys and men. He disclosed that an impartial survey of the Boy Scouts showed that while every 240 non-Scouts was a juvenile court delinquent, only one of every 978 active Scouts was a delinquent. While he believed it would be erroneous to conclude that Scouting itself accounted for this vast difference in ratio, there can be no doubt, he said, that "the favorable influence of the Scout movement was to a large extent responsible."

"Children usually pattern their behavior upon that of someone with whom they come in contact, and respect. The ideals which are instilled in their minds represent an essential preparation for later life. The influence of trained social leaders is therefore of vast importance. I urge as many of our citizens who can qualify, to take up this task of educating our youth along lines of good citizenship."

Leaders of Tomorrow
When the National Scout Jamboree convenes in Washington, Scouts from this country will take part in many activities. Those young men—of our country and of other nations—represent the leaders of tomorrow. We know that very often complications between countries arise because men lack an understanding of their fellow beings.

The All-Stars would like games at twilight on week nights or Sundays. Those wishing games are asked to call X1088 after 7 P. M. All Stars .. 230 000 010 3-9-10-7 Wildcats .. 000 032 100-0-6-7-2 R. H. E.

"Is it not desirable, therefore," Warden Lawes concludes, "to encourage as many young men from various nations to meet at a time when lasting friendships can be made, and when the horizon of understanding can be broadened? Insight into the ideals and characteristics of those who live apart from us in other sections of the world tend to create a feeling of good will which augurs well for future peace among nations."

NEW METHOD OF PICKING JUDGES BEFORE LAWYERS

Chicago, May 20.—(AP)—A revision in the method of selecting Circuit and Superior court judges in the state was before the executive board of the Illinois Bar Association today. It called for selection of the judges by the governor from a list furnished by justices of the state Supreme Court.

The public relations committee of the association brought the plan before the state convention last night with the notation that it had resulted from a study of system used in other states.

The report, submitted by Gen. John V. Cline, chairman of the committee and member of the executive board, advocated departure from the present practice of electing the judges for six-year terms. The governor's appointees would be confirmed by the state Senate under the plan.

Caro A. Trimble of Princeton, president of the association, said the committee's recommendation was tantamount to endorsement by the executive board, which he said would consider it next month.

Introduction of the proposal into the state legislature will follow the board's probable approval, said Philip R. Davis of Chicago, chairman of a sub-committee on judges.

LIVES DEPEND ON STOUT TIRES IN 500-MILE RACE

Rubber Must Be Able To Stand Highest Speed Possible

BY WALDO STEIN
(The Speedway Tire Expert Has Written the Following Story for The Associated Press.)

Indianapolis, May 20.—(AP)—If a racing tire fails, I'm on the spot. Two men's lives may depend on every tire I approve for the 500-mile race this May 31 on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

We build racing tires so they won't fail, will not have a blow-out while the driving stars are making their desperate dash 200 times around a two and a half mile oval that punishes tires more than any highway in the world.

A tire for an Indianapolis car must have treads that won't separate; tubes that will not suddenly give way to fatigue at a critical stage of the race. The rubber on the car must be capable of withstanding the highest speed of which the engine and driver are capable.

Problem Increases
Our problem has increased with the years as speed records were left shattered by the wayside.

I have crouched in the pits during a race and watched some driver, making a desperate effort to overtake the leader, punish his tires horribly. I have seen them still refusing to come in for a tire change after the terrific friction had burned up their rubber.

I have seen them literally running on the tubes. Yes, and I have witnessed them go into a spin after they had disregarded a warning and continued on until the tires had finally given up the ghost.

Fortunately, an Indianapolis car hasn't crashed due to a tire giving way in a long time.

Years of experiment, expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars and co-operation of racing men have combined to make racing tire safety a certainty—and not a gamble.

FOR STATE INSTITUTION
Springfield, Ill., May 20.—(AP)—Governor Horner signed a bill today making a deficiency appropriation of $140,000 to the public welfare department. The funds, which are provided for in the budget, will be used in the operation of state institutions. Higher food prices and other unanticipated expenses were reported to have made the appropriation necessary.

LINDY'S FIRST BACKER RECALLS HISTORIC FLIGHT

Famous Flier Hopped Off For Paris Ten Years Ago Today

(Pictures on Page 8)

St. Louis, May 20—(AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh, his only possession an extra suit of clothes, flew to St. Louis in an "old crate" in the spring of 1935. Two years later he had spanned the Atlantic to win the adulation of the world.

Major Albert Bond Lambert, wealthy pioneer airman and vice-president of the Board of Police Commissioners, who knew Lindbergh from the day he first reached St. Louis, recalled the young pilot today on the tenth anniversary of the epic flight from New York to Paris.

Lambert and Phil Love, now Lieutenant-Colonel and air officer of the 35th division of the National Guard, were seated on a bench at Lambert's "cow pasture," which became the present Lambert-St. Louis municipal airport, when Lindbergh landed.

The boyish-appearing flier, his hair tousled, walked from the plane and said, "How do you do? Where can I get a hot dog sandwich?" When he got it and returned, he asked, "Any place around here a fellow can stay?"

"Love, who had no more resources than Lindbergh, looked him over," Lambert recalled. "Then he said, 'You can join me in my hut, if you want. I live out here.'"

Got His Nickname

The "hut" had but on cot. Lindbergh moved far over to one side of it that night, leaving at least three-fourths of the bed for his host. The next morning, Love gave Lindbergh the nickname, "Slim," commenting, "that fellow could sleep on the edge of a slat."

Lindbergh stayed at Love's hut two years. He became an instructor for the Robertson Aircraft Corporation and later one of its air mail pilots when the company was awarded a contract for the St. Louis-Chicago route.

Lambert said the idea of crossing the Atlantic came to Lindbergh on his solitary night flights with the mail. Six years earlier, 1929 Raymond Orteig had offered $25,000 to the first man to fly non-stop from New York to Paris.

On Dec. 23, 1926 an afternoon when a hard snow was falling, Lindbergh walked into Lambert's office.

His Proposition

"I've got a proposition I'd like to ask about," he said. "It's something I'm going to do. I want to make the trans-Atlantic flight for that prize."

"If anyone in the United States can do it, you can," Lambert said he replied. He explained he realized Lindbergh was potentially a great flier, principally because of the unerring left movements of his hands.

When Lambert asked the cost of the flight, the answer was $14,000 and then Lindbergh, with a broad grin, added, "I've already raised $2000."

"That's quick work," Lambert declared. "Who contributed that?"

"I did," said Lindbergh. "It's my total savings."

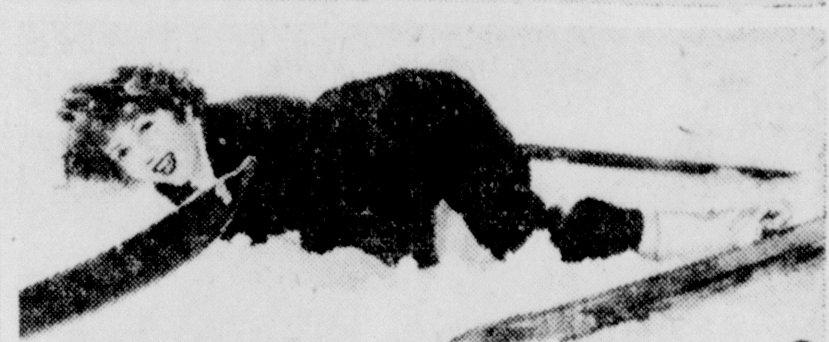

Lambert immediately replied, "All right, you can count on me for

Head Over Heels in Winter Sport

While most of us planned summer outings, Film Actress Claudette Colbert was applying herself to a vigorous round of winter sports in Idaho in preparation for her next picture, "I Met Him in Paris." Her ice skating lessons, top photo, went skimmingly with Aaron Phillips, Hollywood expert. Then Miss Colbert learned that skis, though bigger than skates, are not necessarily safer as she got a first-hand introduction, lower photo, to a snow bank.

$1000 and on my brother Wooster (J. D. Wooster Lambert, wealthy sportsman of St. Louis and New York) for another thousand."

Raised $15,000

Lindbergh saw other St. Louisans and two days later had raised $15,000. In addition to the Lamberts, those who backed him were his employers, Major William B. Robertson and Frank H. Robertson, and Harold M. Bixby, Harry F. Knight, Harry H. Knight, E. Lansing, Ray and Earl C. Thompson.

On Feb. 15, 1927, the first check, Lambert's for $1000, was handed Lindbergh, and two weeks later he went to San Francisco to supervise construction of the "Spirit of St. Louis."

Every possible way of decreasing the weight of the plane to assure greater gasoline capacity received the flier's attention. For example, he permitted only two coats of paint, instead of the usual three.

That care in eliminating all unnecessary weight was illustrated even more, Lambert said, when Lindbergh prepared to take off in New York on May 20, 1927.

Eliminated Weight

He took out a handful of silver and handed the money to a representative of his St. Louis backers.

"Why, you'll need that when you get across," Lindbergh was told. He replied leaving the coins made room for 14 additional ounces of gasoline. He had even designed his own boots because he could find none light enough for his purposes.

In all, Lambert said, Lindbergh's precision in eliminating every ounce of excess weight permitted him to carry 12½ extra gallons of gasoline, which was exactly the reserve amount of fuel in his tank when he landed at Le Bourget in Paris on May 21, 1927, just 33 hours and 29 minutes after he left New York.

Lambert paused frequently during his recollections to point out pertinent photographs or mementoes on the walls of the living room of his home. He has a strip of fabric from the "Spirit of St. Louis," one of its valve springs, and innumerable photographs of Lindbergh.

Called the "Father of St. Louis Aviation," Lambert began flying balloons in 1907—Lindbergh was then 5 years old—and airplanes in 1910. He purchased his first plane from the Wright Brothers and Orville Wright was his flying instructor. He trained balloonists at San Antonio during the World War.

TRAGEDY MARS CONVENTION OF STATE VETERANS

Aurora Woman Killed; Eleven Hurt at Decatur Last Night

Decatur, Ill., May 20—(AP)—The death of a woman delegate and the injury of 11 others in an automobile accident spread sorrow today over final sessions of the 71st annual encampment of the Illinois G. A. R.

Mrs. Lyla Meredith of Aurora died in a hospital today from a skull fracture suffered shortly after midnight when a police patrol wagon in which she and 13 other women were riding "just for fun" overturned.

Police Sgt. Forrest Pollard, the driver, who collapsed after the accident, was under treatment in a hospital for an injured spine.

The women were delegates to meetings of auxiliary organizations at the annual encampment.

St. Mary's hospital listed the injured as:

Mrs. Hazel Kessler, Aurora; Mrs. Edna Booth, Waukegan; Mrs. Ella Raymond and Mrs. Anna Hayes, of Des Plaines; Mrs. Florence Remy-ske, Riverdale; Mrs. Margaret Rehn, Mrs. Jennie O'Connor, Mrs. Esther Peacock and Mrs. Grace Polzen, all of Chicago; Mrs. Evelyn Head of Aurora and Mrs. Grace Nagel of Blue Island.

Two Escaped Injury

Mrs. W. F. Rose and Mrs. Myneth Lizenby, both of Chicago, escaped injury.

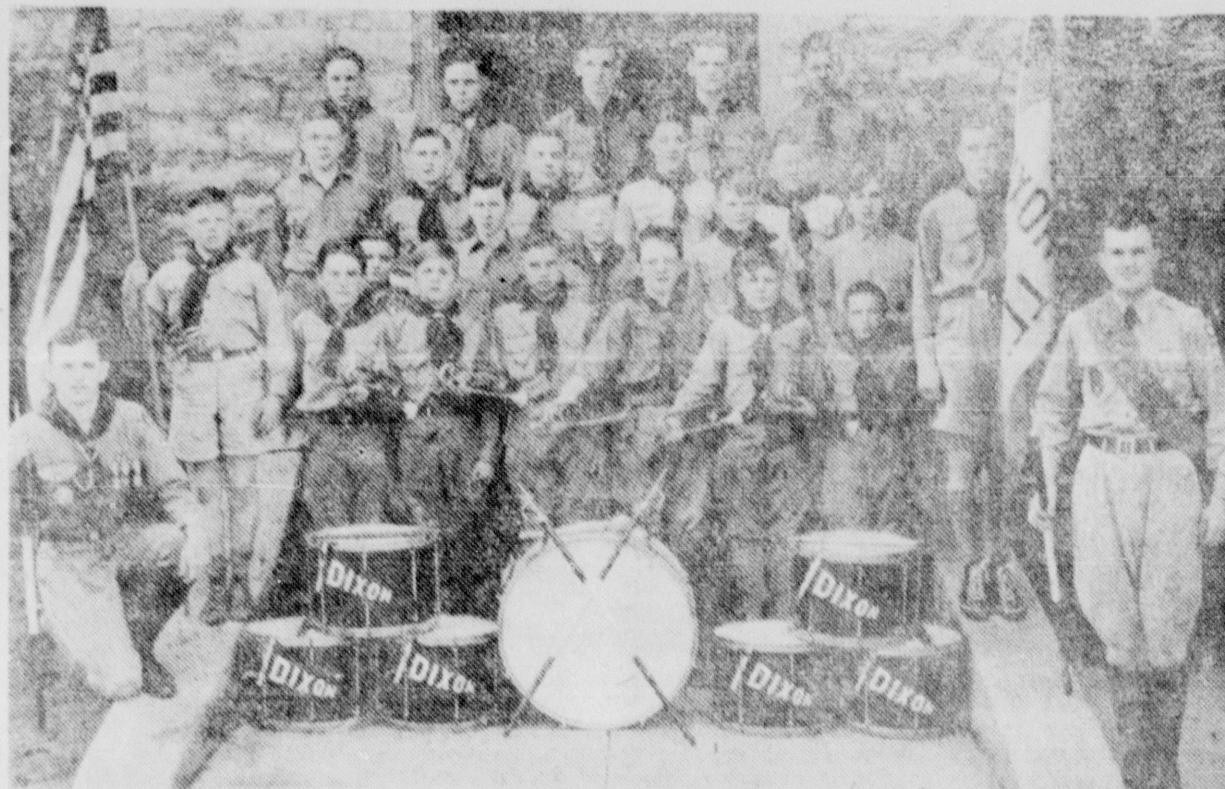

Physicians said the extent of injuries suffered by many of the women could not be determined for at least 24 hours.

Chief of Police H. C. Schepper said after questioning Pollard at the hospital that the accident occurred when the driver swerved the patrol wagon to avoid crashing into a string of parked cars.

The police chief said the women had called at headquarters and asked to be taken on a tour of the city in the patrol wagon "just for fun."

Schepper said he granted their re-

News Beats

Washington Merry-Go-Round Scores Outstanding Beats

The amazing Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen again scored a remarkable news beat when they flatly predicted the resignation of Justice Van Devanter one full day before he formally announced it himself.

Justice Van Devanter, conservative, 78-year-old member of the Supreme Court, sent his letter of resignation to the president on Tuesday, May 18. But his definite decision to retire was exclusively reported in The Washington Merry-Go-Round on Monday, May 17, twenty-four hours ahead.

This world-wide beat seems even more amazing when it is realized that the story was written in Washington several days before it was published in The Dixon Evening Telegraph.

Rumors of the impending resignation of Justice Van Devanter and other aging members of the Court had been current in Washington and widely reported for weeks. But The Washington Merry-Go-Round was the only source which predicted Van Devanter's decision categorically and without reservation. The column on Monday said:

"The current term will be the last that Justice Willis Van Devanter serves on the Supreme Court."

"He has definitely decided to retire. Van Devanter is 78 years old and in poor health. His 26 years on the bench are weighing heavily on him, and he will take advantage of the new Supreme Court pension law and return to private life... Opponents of the measure are eager for him to make his decision known immediately, as they are confident it would be the knockout blow to the Roosevelt court plan."

This latest beat is another notch in Pearson and Allen's fine record of keeping readers accurately informed on the behind-the-scenes forces working on the Supreme Court. The Merry-Go-Round definitely predicted Roosevelt's demand on Congress for power to increase the membership of the Court, which precipitated the present furious controversy. They had indicated it was coming as early as January, 1934, categorically said it had been decided upon on January 28, 1937, one week before the president's "surprise" message of February 5.

The Merry-Go-Round on April 15, said that the proposed transatlantic air race was definitely off. The Department of Commerce announcement confirming this came on May 18, a month later.

Braddock's Camp Opened Formally To Public Eyes

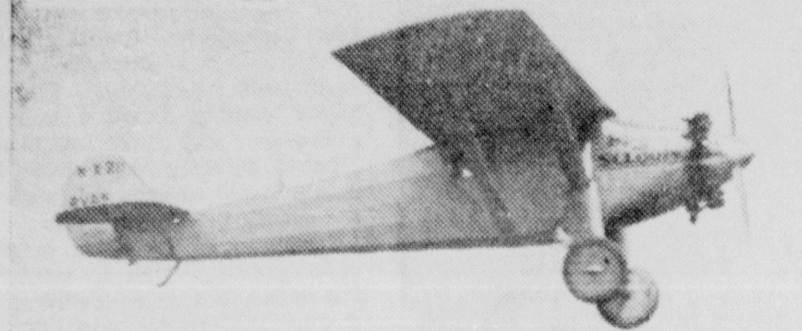

Chicago, May 20—(AP)—James J. Braddock, world's heavyweight champion, started putting the pressure on training today when his camp at Grand Beach, Mich., was opened formally to the public.

A special train carried 50 or 60 newspaper and cameramen to the camp for the event.

The champion weighs about 198 pounds as a result of five weeks of light training. This is about five pounds over what he plans to scale for his title bout with Joe Louis here June 22.

Louis will engage in his first public training moves at his camp in Kenosha, Wis., on Saturday,

TO FRANCE

At dawn, on May 20, 1927, Charles A. Lindbergh piloted the Spirit of St. Louis, top photo, eastward from Roosevelt Field, L. I. Thirty-three hours later, he was at Le Bourget Field, Paris, lower photo, getting his initiation as a world hero.

HOME

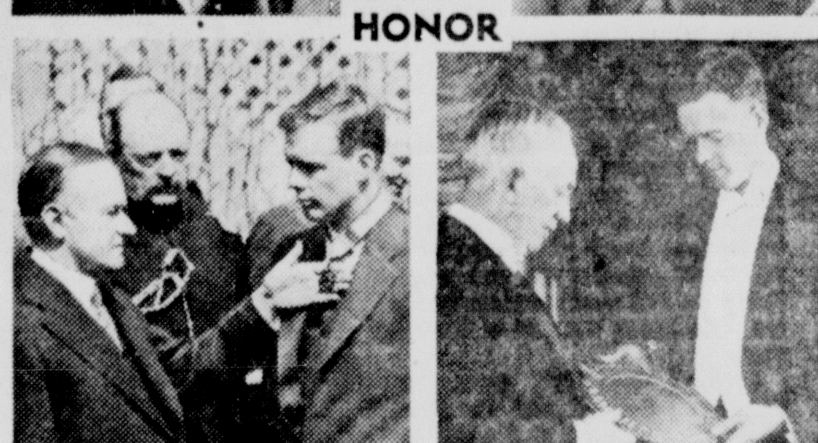

As the Atlantic's first solo flyer, Lindbergh was feted abroad before he came home, a distinguished passenger on the U. S. cruiser Memphis. Sharing the glory as Lindbergh landed in Washington, was his mother, shown behind her son.

FAME

New York staged its greatest welcoming celebration as Lindbergh was paraded up Broadway in a storm of ticker tape. Perched on the car beside the bareheaded flyer was Mayor Jimmy Walker. The other silk-hatted figure is Grover Whalen, official city greeter.

ROMANCE

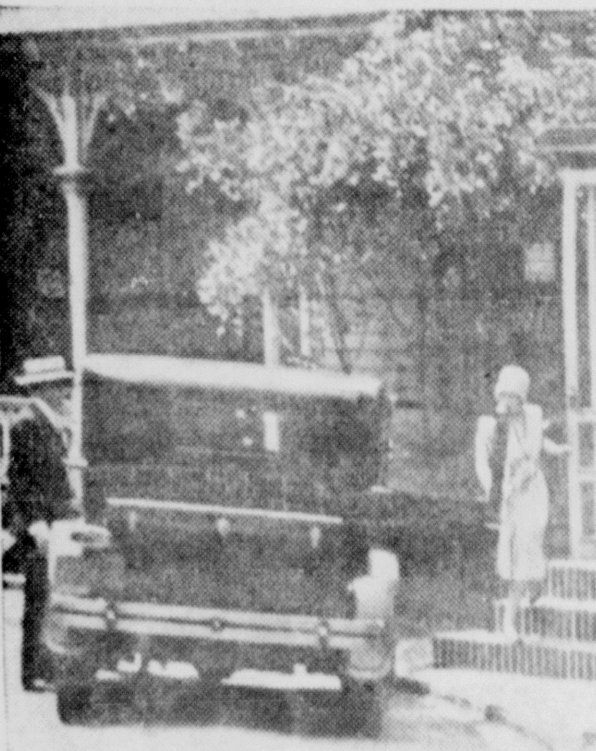

Soon after his flight, Lindbergh met Anne Morrow, daughter of the U. S. ambassador to Mexico. The courtship was kept secret until early in 1929 when the engagement was announced.

Their love ran smoothly except on this occasion, when Lindbergh's plane upset at Mexico City. Anne, a passenger, was unhurt. Her fiancé suffered a dislocated shoulder.

Fame's spotlight caught them, however, a few weeks after their marriage, May 27, 1929, in Englewood, N. J. Anne is dashing for the car driven by her husband.

Their long game of hide and seek with photographers started after their marriage, May 27, 1929, in Englewood, N. J. Anne is dashing for the car driven by her husband.

Just past 25 when he made his epochal flight, Lindbergh nevertheless had all the qualities of sturdiness and vision worthy of a "Lone Eagle." The idea of flying the Atlantic alone came to him while he was piloting U. S. mail planes. At the takeoff, only a handful of spectators were present. Then he succeeded, and fame heaped a surplus of combined bliss and bitterness upon him.

TRAGEDY

After the Paris flight, Lindbergh's fan mail contained many "crank" letters. But none foreshadowed the kidnaping and death of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., in March, 1932. The baby is shown above on his first birthday, seven months before the kidnaping.

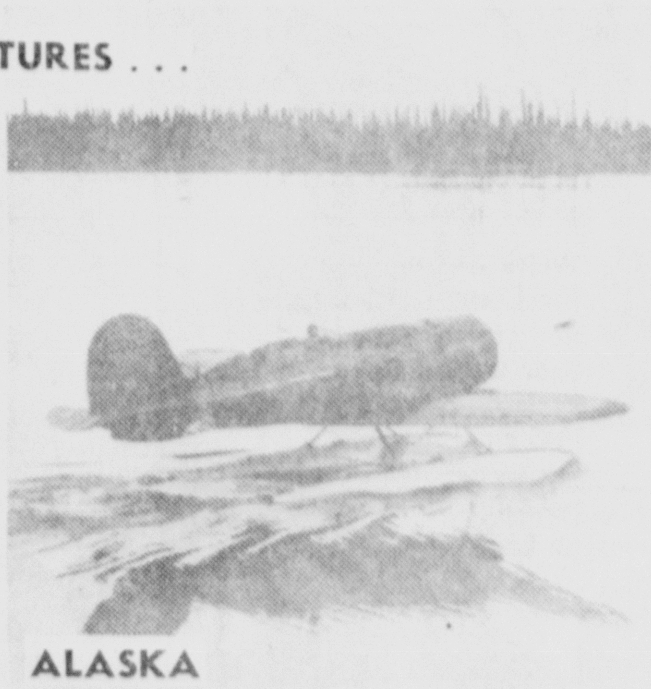

Scene of the kidnap tragedy was this estate, Lindbergh's new home, near Hopewell, N. J. More than two years later Bruno Richard Hauptmann, Bronx, N. Y., carpenter, was arrested for the crime. He was found guilty and executed April 3, 1936.

TRANS-AMERICA

Whether tragedy or triumph ruled their lives, the Lindberghs retained their love of air travel. Here they are poised for an early flight together, a trans-continental trip from Los Angeles.

ALASKA

Midsummer, 1931, saw the Lindberghs en route to the Orient. From Point Barrow, Alaska, they took off, above, for the long swing down the fringes of Siberia to Japan.

JAPAN

A royal reception awaited them in Tokyo, and as a memento of the visit, they were presented with a rare vase by Prince Iyesato Tokugawa, ranking peer of Japan.

CHINA

In China, Lindbergh volunteered to aid refugees of river floods, but came to grief when his plane overturned in the river at Hankow. Lindbergh and his wife both were fluked.

LIBYA

Moving to England in 1935, the Lindberghs still traveled. In their 1937 flight to the Near East, they stopped in Libya, visited Gen. Italo Balbo, Italy's governor-general.

The Charles A. Lindberghs, father and son, were close pals. The father, elected to Congress in 1907, later campaigned in a plane piloted by his son. One of their trips ended with a crackup in a cornfield in the midwest.

At the age of 10, young Charles saw an airplane for the first time at Washington, where he was in school.

Flying was his career at 22. This is Cadet Lindbergh as his "buddies" at the San Antonio, Tex., field saw him.

Before entering the U. S. air mail service in 1926, Lindbergh had served, above, in the Missouri National Guard.

After winning fame with the Paris flight, Lindbergh was solicitous of the welfare of his mother, a Detroit school teacher. They are shown together here, about to start one of the many trips they made together.

Modest, but no longer bashful, Lindbergh is shown here, the reasonable man of affairs 10 years after his famous flight.

Yesterday's Riot May Bring Out Record Crowd Today

BULLETIN
New York, May 20—(AP)—Dizzy Dean and Jimmy Rippel each were fined $50 by Ford Frick, president of the National League today, for their fight in the St. Louis Cardinals-New York Giants game at St. Louis yesterday. No one else was fined.

St. Louis, May 20—(AP)—If some unidentified individual hadn't brought one in from out in left field and hung it on Don Gutteridge's eye, there would be little indication today that the battle of the century was staged before 26,399 whooping fans at Sportsman's park yesterday as Carl Hubbell, lean Giant southpaw, turned in his 22d straight victory of the old and new seasons at the expense of Dizzy Dean and the St. Louis Cardinals, 4 to 1.

The good old days when the coming to town of John McGraw's "Gints" meant open season for fist fights were revived by Bill Terry's current model yesterday, with the enthusiastic co-operation of the Cardinals, but aside from the individual who took a bead on Gutteridge, other pleasure fighters pitched no-hit games.

It was not a spur-of-the-moment affair, that ninth-inning battle of

Badgers, Indiana Tied For Second Behind Illinois

Chicago, May 20—(AP)—The two big surprises of the Western conference baseball championship campaign, Wisconsin and Indiana, were knotted in a second place tie today, right at the heels of Illinois' pace-setters.

The Badgers, like Indiana, were not given much consideration as title timber before the season opened, but a resounding 10 to 3 triumph over Northwestern yesterday, moved them into a share of the runner-up spot with five victories and one defeat. Illinois had six victories out of seven conference engagements.

While the Badgers were belting Northwestern to its third defeat in six games, Minnesota, with Howard Schultz pitching six-hit ball, shut out Michigan, 4 to 0, in the opening of a two-game series. The victory was Minnesota's third in six starts.

CARL HUBBELL MASTERS DEAN HURLING DUEL

Riot Enlivens Game, As Balk Is Called On "Great One"

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The pitching argument of the era—Carl Hubbell's brains vs. Dizzy Dean's good right arm—is still a long way from being settled, but for the moment there seems little to offer against the nomination of "King Carl" as the best hurler in the game today.

Despite his all-time high run of 22 straight victories, it was another angle, generally overlooked in the first-flinging and excitement of the 4-1 beating Hubbell and the Giants pinned on Dean and the Cardinals yesterday, which explains as much as anything why old "Squarepants" stands out like a Babe Ruth in a field of bush leaguers.

When Dean and Jim Rippel started the battle that wound up in a riot, with about everyone remotely connected with both teams taking part, Hubbell wasn't anywhere around. And where was Carl when the lights went out? Why down in the Giants' dugout, as cool as a keg of beer, enjoying the show.

By his own explanation, Hubbell is paid to win ball games. And, since fist-throwing, in his opinion, doesn't come under the head of winning pitching, he kept both his seat and his head when the Giants poured out of their dugout to mix it.

Calmly Resumes Task
After it was all over, he calmly resumed his task of mowing the Cardinals down and wound up with his sixth straight victory of the season. It was his 22d in a row over a two-season stretch, the longest streak in baseball history.

It may be unfair to compare Dizzy with Hubbell on the basis of yesterday's warfare, since Dean was given a tough break when a balk was called against him in a tight spot in the sixth, leading to the Giants' winning three-run rally. But the fact remains that Hubbell has demonstrated that when the heat is on he has few equals.

Twice during the game, he showed his stuff in the clutch. When Ducky Medwick banged his homer, Hubbell immediately followed by fanning dangerous Johnny Mize and immediately afterward picked Lippy Leo Durocher off first. When Jim Brown singled to open the ninth, Hubbell didn't bat an eyelash, but wound up the affair by fanning Medwick and Mize, two of the toughest hitters in the league.

Eclipsed Other Games
Compared with the Hubbell-Dean "battle of the century," the rest of the big league program didn't stand a chance at the headlines. But there were other doings. Night baseball made its seasonal debut in Cincinnati, with between 20,000 and 25,000 turning out to see the Boston Bees down the Reds, 3 to 1, behind Lou Pette.

The Philadelphia Athletics' American league lead was cut to a slim percentage margin as they were trampled, 9-0, by the Detroit Tigers behind Tommy Bridges' five-hit flinging. The Phillies turned tables on the Pirates and came through with a 5-4 win. Dolph Camilli stealing home with the winning run in the ninth. Tex Carleton made his 1937 starting debut and pitched a six-hitter to give the Cubs a 3-1 win over the Brooklyn Dodgers. Everything else was rained out.

Ohio State Vet Favored By Draw For Tennis Meet

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 20—(AP)—The luck of the draw favored Bob Bihousen, Ohio State veteran, who was runner-up to Norman Bickel, Chicago's defending champion, today after Big Ten tennis coaches for the first time in the history of the annual tennis meets seeded two outstanding stars in opposite brackets.

Advocates of the new plan argued it would enhance interest in Saturday's final matches.

Bickel, seeded in the lower bracket, faced Michigan's Capt. Miller Sherwood, a formidable enough foe, in the opening round today. He also must polish off the winner of the match between George Ball, high-ranking Northwestern ace, and Minnesota's Guy Corson before winning his way to Nihousen, whose preliminary opponents are Willard Stafford, Wisconsin, and the winner of the match between C. Fleming, Iowa, and W. Rich, Illinois.

Northwestern, defending the team title, took a licking in the singles draw. In every one of six singles rankings and in two of three doubles ranking the Wildcats found themselves bracketed with Chicago's powerful Maroons, the same outfit that whipped them twice in dual meets.

HOW SURE ARE YOU

that the cigar you smoke is the best you can buy?

Here's why we ask. More men smoke PHILLIES than any other cigar in America. This can mean only one thing. Men like it better than any other cigar.

The reason? It's no secret. PHILLIES has no bitter, bitey, raspy taste—even down to the last puff. Equally important—it has the rich, mild, satisfying flavor of fine tobaccos that men want in their cigars.

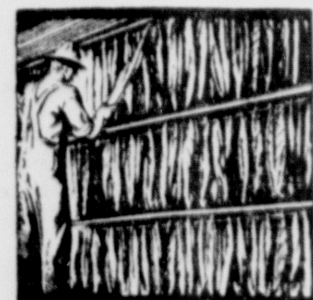

No matter what cigar you now smoke—or what price you pay—give PHILLIES a trial. Then ask yourself whether it isn't milder—smoother—more enjoyable—than your present cigar.

The first PHILLIES you smoke will show you why it is America's largest-selling cigar.

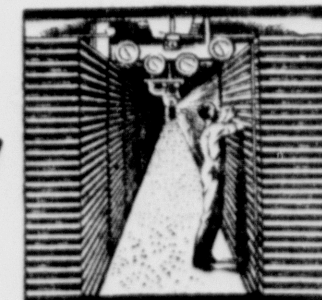

WHY PHILLIES ARE FREE OF BITTER, BITEY, RASPY TASTE

Bayuk selects and buys for PHILLIES the finest and mildest types of Havana, Domestic and Sumatra tobaccos. They are the very pick of the crops.

All PHILLIES tobaccos are aged and mellowed for at least two years—and are cured by the same methods used in making the most expensive cigars. . . . BUT BAYUK DOESN'T STOP HERE.

Bayuk runs an exclusive, patented process that removes the bitter oils and harsh elements that ordinary curing methods don't, and can't, get out. No other cigar manufacturer can use this process.

LOCAL HOUSING PROBLEMS KEEP
CITIES VEXEDInterest Centering On Bettering Perplexing
Condition

In Illinois cities, the past year has shown a marked increase of community interest in local housing problems but the future need is for accurate, up to date knowledge of local conditions. Is the conclusion revealed today by the annual report of the Illinois State Housing Board, issued by Chairman Alfred K. Stern.

Emphasizing the Board's policy of working to stimulate local action by citizen groups, public officials, and business and professional associations in every community, the annual report outlined the major housing developments which have been taken in the state.

They are: First, the removal of unfit residence buildings; second, the establishment and enforcement of building standards in terms of residence usage; third, the development of housing councils, in which all points of view are represented, and fourth, the creation of local housing authorities, legalized by the state legislature to operate low cost housing projects.

"One of the most urgent problems facing government agencies today," states the Housing Board annual report, "is the question of living quarters for approximately one third of our population. Society cannot afford to house these people in substandard quarters because the cost, directly and indirectly, is far greater than the cost of providing improved living conditions. It is evident that if we are going to do anything about this problem, direct subsidy is required."

Should Study Large Projects

In connection with the amount and form of subsidy for low cost housing the report states that Illinois communities should look forward to the possibility of financing large scale projects through the provisions for capital loans and grants in the Wagner-Steagall housing bill pending before the national legislature. Rent subsidies are impractical at present because of lack of control of old buildings under unsupervised owners.

The state board report lists ten principal points for guiding the housing status of any community. They are:

Is there a real estate inventory?

Are many blighted buildings unfit for human habitation?

Do local ordinances establish minimum housing standards?

Is there a shortage of low cost housing?

Does the planning body study land uses?

Is there an official city plan?

Is there public recognition and support of a housing program?

Is there a housing council in the larger cities in which all groups are cooperating for action?

Does income from normal employment permit all citizens to obtain decent living quarters?

The details of housing problems and progress for six Illinois communities are given in the state board report. The six cities, Peoria, East St. Louis, Springfield, Danville, Moline and Chicago, were selected, not

Registrar's Office
Swamped With Calls
For Scholarships

Urbana, Ill., May 20.—(AP)—The registrar's office at the University of Illinois has been swamped this week with so many applications for Civil War scholarship that Registrar G. P. Tuttle delved into records today and came up with the information that only 13 such scholarships remain available.

He said publication of a news story revealing the existence of the scholarships to heirs of a few Civil War veterans resulted in scores of queries regarding eligibility.

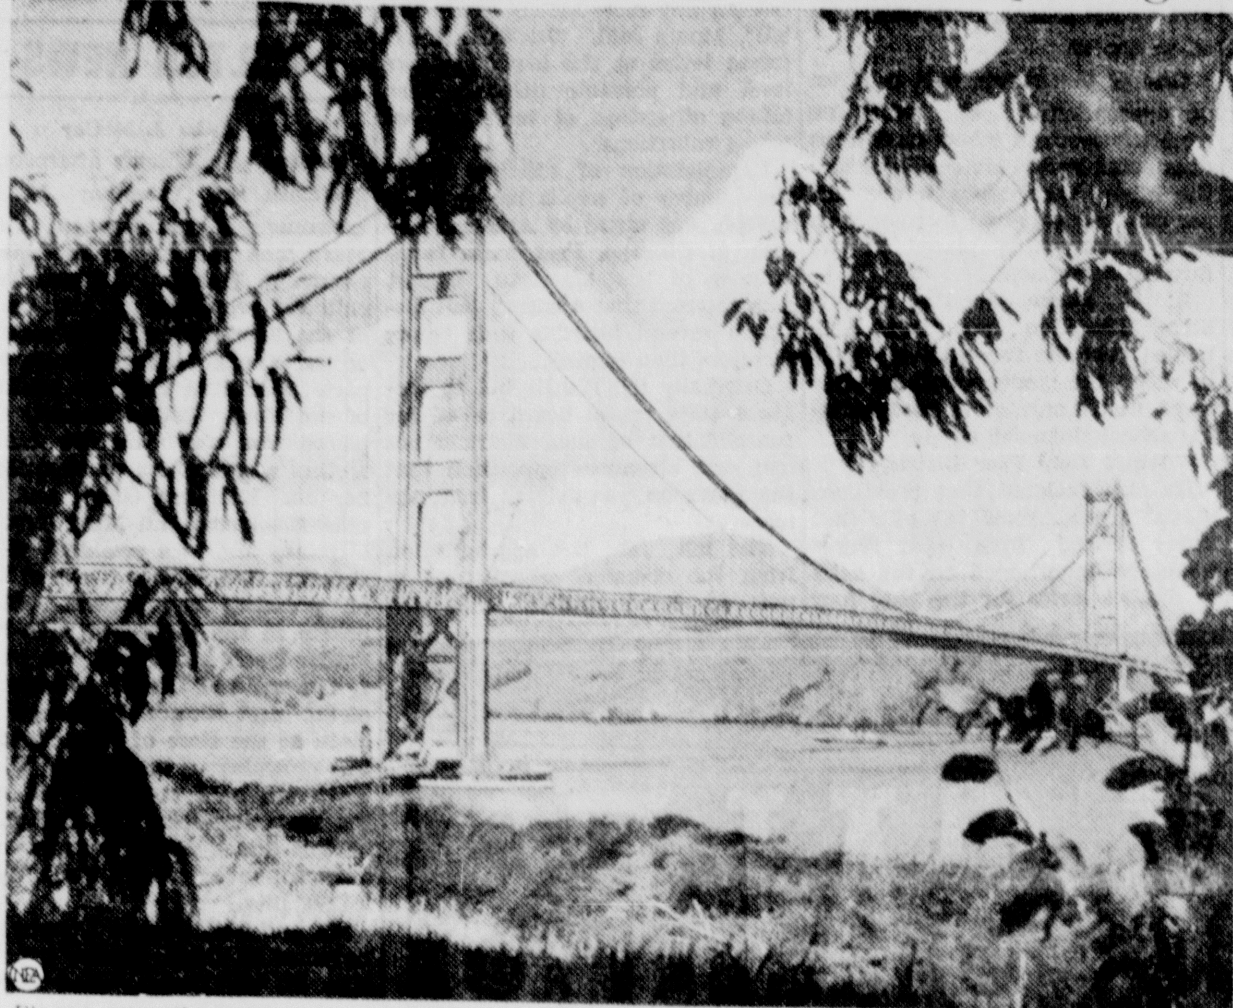

Tuttle pointed out that the scholarship is awarded only once in each county and has been claimed in every county except Alexander, Brown, Bureau, Calhoun, Henderson, Marshall, Mason, Menard, Perry, Putnam, Scott, Washington and Whiteside.

After the Civil War the legislature gave one scholarship to each county for the benefit of a direct descendant of a Civil War soldier. At that time the university course was only three years in length, so the scholarships provide free tuition only for that period.

Golden Gate's Great Span on Eve of Opening

Flung across the entrance to San Francisco bay in the world's longest single span, the Golden Gate Bridge is pictured here as workmen added finishing touches before the elaborate formal opening during an international ceremony starting May 27. A single deck suspension, 6450 feet from end to end, the bridge is more than three times the length of Brooklyn Bridge. To complete the structure required four years and $33,000,000, and cost 10 lives. It crosses over "Chrysoceros"—the Golden Gate—at a height of 230 feet, and connects San Francisco by highway with northern California. The towers, visible in this picture which was taken looking from San Francisco, are 746 feet high, built for strength and a setback artistic motif.

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—The Federal Trade Commission announced today that Boyd W. Doyle, trading as the Doyle Packing Company of Moline, Ill., had agreed to discontinue alleged unfair representations in the sale of canned foods for dogs and cats.

The commission said Doyle agreed to cease using advertising or labeling to the effect that the dog food he sells "constitutes a balanced diet or is all of one quality of the highest grade possible or that the respondent's product could not be improved even if double the price were charged."

The commission said Doyle also agreed to cease "making assertions to the effect that the product is a result of five years' experience and hundreds of feeding tests or has been recommended or endorsed by leading veterinarians all over the country."

Chicago, May 20.—(AP)—The Junior Leagues stand for a program of common community interests on the American continent regardless of national borders. Mrs. Peter Harvis of Troy, N. Mrs. Harvis, who will continue as head of the organization for another year, was the main speaker at a meeting of the Canadian delegates attending the association's 17th conference.

The association is made up of 138 junior leagues in the United States, six in Canada and one in Mexico.

The reason—the many fine things said about this sterling Dixon young man, as he severed his connection as announcer for that station to enter moving pictures at Hollywood, for which city he leaves Des Moines Sunday, and where he will be joined by his parents in the fall.

Speakers on the program, all of whom extolled the young man and his work, included the state treasurer of Iowa, the mayor of Des Moines, Lee Keyser, park commissioner of Des Moines, and Harold Fair, president of WHO, who at the conclusion of his talk presented Ronald with an elaborate and costly traveling bag.

When "Dutch" regained his composure he thanked all who took part in the program and his many listeners for their interest and help, and concluded by paying a fine tribute to Peter MacArthur, who gave him his first audition and helped him in his early days as an announcer. Peter is now flat on his back with arthritis, but hopes to be able to join his young protégé in the west soon.

WHY PAVE STREETS WITH

here's why —

- 1 Every street demands a gritty, non-skid surface for the protection of motorists and pedestrians.
- 2 At night you need a pavement with high visibility.
- 3 Safety also calls for a pavement that is free from chuck holes, ruts and bumps . . . and stays that way with minimum maintenance.
- 4 You want a pavement that drains quickly . . . that is easily cleaned and stays clean . . . no depressions to catch dirt.
- 5 You want a pavement that makes the whole neighborhood look modern, prosperous, attractive.

Concrete . . . and only concrete . . . completely meets all of these specifications.

SCHOOL PROBLEM UNSOLVED AFTER SENATE HEARING

Proposals Submitted To Finance Schools Are Now Satisfactory

Springfield, Ill., May 20—(AP)—The school financing problem appeared no nearer solution today following a senate hearing in which school leaders asserted that many districts need financial help but suggested no source from which the revenue might be raised.

Bills sponsored by Harry C. Stuttle, Litchfield Democrat, to provide nearly $55,000,000 for school purposes during the next year were given a thorough discussion but most of the senators were absent and several scheduled speakers failed to appear.

One of the Stuttle bills calls for an appropriation of $29,733,060 from the common school fund to be distributed by the state auditor and the other would place a one-half per cent tax on gross incomes with the administration placed in the finance department.

R. C. Moore, secretary of the State Education Association, contended that the two different ways in which the money would be allocated would only serve to increase the school financial trouble.

He won't help poor districts.

He also declared that provisions in the gross income tax bills that funds derived from that source would be apportioned on the basis of district levies for the past four years would only "make rich districts richer".

"Districts in dire distress will not get any more money under this bill," Moore said. "Instead, it will freeze levies at the low depression level and prevents districts from taking advantage of increased assessed valuations".

Consolidation of districts where the number of pupils has dropped sharply was urged by Arthur Poorman of Chicago, Past State Commander of the American Legion, who asserted that a survey had disclosed several districts with "more directors than pupils".

Originally the Stuttle bill to create a state school board called for consolidation of such districts but met such strenuous opposition that the provision was deleted from the measure.

The bill for the appropriation from the common school fund is now on third reading while the gross income tax measure was on first reading without recommendation of the revenue committee.

POETS' CORNER

THE INFANT KING

I'd like to play with top, or ball,
Or lively battledore;
Or laugh to see the paper kite
So high above me soar;
Nay, sire, the regent gravely said,
Aside these follies fling;
Remember, though you are a child,
You are a nation's king.

I'll go with yonder little boys,
To sport upon the green;
For sure beyond those palace-walls
Right merry things are seen.
My liege, it would appear to me
A most unseemly thing.
If children of ignoble race
Should gambol with their king.

Indoor, alone, since I must be,
I'll look some picture o'er
Or spread out all my pretty toys
Upon the nursery floor.
Nay, but your majesty must tend
The books your tutors bring;
And haste to learn what best befits
A mighty people's king.

Oh, would that I were not a king!
The tiny monarch cried.
While fast adown his infant cheek
The drops of sorrow glide.
Would that I were yon happy bird,
And owned those shining wings.
I know that God made little boys
But oh, who're made kings!

HIDDEN MONEY

Ottawa—(AP)—When Miss Margaret Todd, 63, was adjudged insane by the county court, authorities went to her home in the belief she had money hidden. A search revealed $2538 in cash. Sheriff Ralph H. Desper reported. Ira A. H. Osman, South Ottawa supervisor, said Miss Todd had been on relief rolls during the last year.

In the revenue act of 1761, which placed a tax upon the sweet, sticky substance, molasses was spelled three different ways: "molasses", "melasses", and "molasses".

HORNER PROGRAM ENCOUNTERS TWO REAL CONFLICTS

Drivers' License Bill and U. of I. Demand May Split Party

Springfield, Ill., May 20—(AP)—The fight of Governor Horner's highway officials to get control of drivers' license patronage had possibilities today of bringing on further political warfare during the last six weeks of the legislative session.

House members waited for Monday night, when the next showdown is scheduled in the battle to determine whether the governor's division of highways or Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes shall get the appropriations and jobs that go with licensing of drivers.

The governor lost yesterday, 58 to 72, when an effort was made to table an amendment switching the driver's license administration to the secretary of state.

The amendment wasn't adopted, however, because Horner men forced an immediate adjournment and maneuvered for reconsideration of the vote when the assembly reconvenes Monday.

Must Come First

Whether F. Lynden Smith, director of public works, could get enough vote switches to turn the tide in the house was uncertain. Denouncing the delay, which followed a refusal to abide by a joint committee agreement for Hughes, Floor Leader Benjamin S. Adamowski declared all other action would be blocked until a drivers' license measure is passed.

Party and factional lines were split, but most of the Republicans and Chicago Democrats voted for Hughes.

Some representatives, opposing licenses, privately declared the any highway safety plan based on open fight between the Democratic officials would endanger the prospects of any bill.

Senate For Hughes

Members of the senate were reported to be ready to vote for control by the secretary of state.

Meanwhile the governor's legislative program encountered trouble from another quarter. The University of Illinois appropriation bill, as introduced for the board of trustees, called for expenditures of some $804,000 more than another bill prepared by the finance department.

With the budget already unbalanced for the next biennium, the university officials refused to accept the additional cut in appropriations imposed by the governor's revised budget.

Convict Slayer of Piano Player

Chicago, May 20—(AP)—Harold Rambert, 26, who capped a night of merriment by killing a tavern piano player who had accompanied his singing of "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life", was convicted of manslaughter by Criminal Court Judge Jerome Dunne.

He pleaded the fatal shooting of Francis B. Parker, 50, the night of Jan. 10 was accidental, and that he had been drinking heavily for several hours before the slaying.

Rambert testified Parker had asked to see a pistol he was carrying and that the weapon was discharged as he produced it.

Judge Dunne, who heard the case without a jury, set May 28 for a hearing on a motion for probation. The statutes provide a sentence of one to 14 years.

Teachers Employed for Coming Year

Announcement is made by the proper authority that the following teachers have been employed for the coming year. Mrs. Swope will again be in charge of the primary room. Mrs. Ruth Holdren did not wish to be considered for her position for another year as she expects to join her husband in East Grand Rapids as soon as school is out.

Mrs. Helen Beemer has been employed to teach the Grammar room. The high school faculty remains the same with Mrs. Thompson teaching History and Girl's Physical Education. Mr. Trobaugh teaching Latin, English and coaching, and Mr. Thompson teaching Mathematics, Science and possibly Manual Training.

Mrs. Swope, Mrs. Beemer and Mr. Trobaugh all plan to attend school during the summer. Mr. Trobaugh is expecting to receive his Master's Degree from the University of Illinois in August. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson probably will not attend summer school, each of them having already done work beyond their Master's degrees and each of them also holding Life Teacher's certificates.

Supt. Thompson has made arrangements with the Illinois State Library Board of the NYA whereby the school library will be made much more useful as well as larger. The library supervisor has brought in quite a number of books to be left here for a month. At the end of that time these books will be gathered up and another consignment left. These books are for the use of the children of the surrounding schools as well as those in Compton. In addition to the advantage of the added books, the library at school will be kept open during the summer as part of the NYA activity. Days and hours when the library will be open will be announced in this column very soon.

STAMPS

BY I. S. KLEIN

DEFENDS SELF
by ITS SMELL

HALFWAY between an elephant and a horse is the tapir, shy animal of the South American and Malayan jungles. One of the most defenseless animals in the world, this strange creature depends mostly on its keen sense of smell to avoid its enemies.

With hoofs like the five-toed horse of ages ago, the tapir resembles that domestic animal also in the shape of its head. But jutting out from its face comes the short trunk that is used very much like an elephant's trunk.

Tapirs are vegetarians and wallow mostly in jungle swamps. A Malayan tapir can be distinguished from one of South America by the absence of a mane and by a blanket of white thrown over its body. North Borneo pictures this animal on a stamp issued in 1909.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

IN CHINA, FISHERMEN RIG THEIR BOATS WITH WHITE, VARNISHED BOARDS, WHICH SLOPE INTO THE WATER. ON MOONLIGHT NIGHTS, FISH MISTAKE THE BOARD FOR WATER, DASH UPON IT, AND SKID INTO THE BOAT.

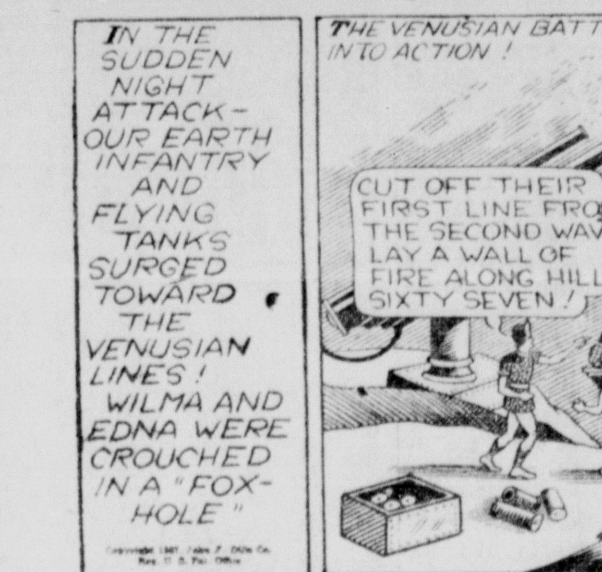

"AN APPETITE LIKE A BIRD" IS AN EXPRESSION USED TO DESCRIBE A LIGHT EATER. HOWEVER, IF A PERSON ACTUALLY ATE LIKE A BIRD, HE WOULD DEVOUR APPROXIMATELY HIS OWN WEIGHT IN FOOD EVERY DAY.

THE human brain is the wonder of the world. It is the instrument by which the world and the universe have become known. Without it there could be no progress on the earth. Types of creatures might come and go, such as they did millions of years ago, but never could they pass beyond definite limitations.

FIVE CHANGES IN INSURANCE
BILL DESIRED

Springfield, Ill., May 20—(AP)— Employer representatives asked the Senate welfare committee here for five changes in the unemployment insurance bill.

Faced with the warning of both labor and employers that time was growing short and further delay might result in failure of the measure to be enacted, the committee planned to send the bill to the Senate floor as soon as possible.

Lead by the Illinois Manufacturers Association, the employers urged the following changes in the measure:

A commission of five to act as an advisory body to the director of labor.

A clause providing that in the event the Federal statute is held invalid, the state act would also fall.

Strengthening of the reserve system by limiting the amount to go into the pooled fund.

Placing of the administration of the law in a separate commission, as under the workmen's compensation act.

Reduce the size of the reserves necessary for a reduction in the employer's rate of contribution.

R. G. Soderstrom of Streator, president of the state federation of labor, said labor was opposed to placing administration of the act in a commission rather than the labor director on the ground that the employers would have too much control over distribution of claims.

WOMAN FACES TRIAL

Belvidere—(AP)—Selection of a jury will start Monday in Circuit Court to try Mrs. Alvina Marcoff, 36, on an indictment charging burglary. She was alleged to have ransacked the home of Mrs. Tina Clankie, in company with Rudolph Hauth. The loot, police said, consisted of more than $700 hidden in glass jars. Hauth was convicted and sentenced to Joliet penitentiary.

teen persons, including 12 school children, who were bitten by a dog believed rabid, were being given the Pasteur treatment today. The animal was killed and its head sent to the state health department for examination.

CHAPTER XXVI
BEFORE noon on Friday, Sybil drove out to the airport to meet Bob. She had wired him about the cruel murder of her uncle, sparing the details, and begging him to return at once. In reply, he promised to take the first available plane.

Sybil's eyes were red with weeping as she greeted him.
"You don't mean it, Sybil!" he protested, searching her face for a denial.

"It's true, Bob. I can't believe it myself. But there's no doubt—"
"Who did it? When did it happen? Where?"

Briefly she explained how she had come to find the body.
"I couldn't sleep, Bob," she emphasized, "thinking of Uncle John all alone in the house with that money—"

Bob started. "The money! I'd completely forgotten it. Whoever did this— He broke off abruptly.
"That's what the police believe,"
Sybil agreed. "Someone

FROM THE FIRING LINE

By H. G. R.

Said she, faintly prying loose a couple of 8-inch paving bricks with the toe of her dancing slipper, "Gee, I'm just nuts about them swing tunes!"

A Boston poet begins a song to his inamorata with this line, "Her eyes are like the stars at night." If the young woman's optics are anything like some Hollywood stars at night we would recommend a pair of smoked glasses.

They used to "launch them on the sea of matrimony." Now they cut the ground rope and leave 'em in thin air.

And what has become of the old-time cook who used to bake salt-risin' bread?

This fashion business has us worried. Get a load of this: "When the bolero is removed a bodice of red and white dotted batiste is disclosed." Why cover the darned thing in the first place?

Ruth Cameron, Clinton, Iowa, Herald columnist, tells of a woman pioneer who achieved success by "never looking back." That never could happen in this generation. About the time a woman failed to look back some dizzy motorist would decide to make the corner on high.

Subject of a lecture at Mt. Morris the other night was "The Forgotten Day." That probably is the day on which "The Forgotten Man" was shown a political pre-view of the promised land.

As we understand it, the breath of the American ambassador to England came in short pants during the coronation ceremonies.

Dixon city official says Dixon is precluded from passing a zoning ordinance similar to the one in Sterling because the Dixon city government is different than the government in Sterling. The only difference in the two city governments, our spies tell us after exhaustive investigation, is that Sterling has and Dixon has not the ordinance.

"Love can live upon love alone," writes C. G. Dodd, the philosopher. But a lot of folks seem to prefer WPA.

"Radio jokers who yell because their gags are stolen ought to be thankful that most of them are credited to someone else," says the Freeport Journal-Standard. The editor could have added that radio comedies also show lack of respect for age. The whiskers on many of their gags are the chief contributing factor to static.

Happy in her newfound love, Mary Pickford is credited by the press with passing out this gem of wisdom: "This thing that we call failure is not the falling down, but the staying down." The source that we picked out of the gutter in New York handed us a similar version. Anyway, both seem to agree that it is worth while to be on the up and up.

That letter written by William E. Dodd, ambassador to Germany, telling of the possibility of a billion-dollar dictator for the United States, has accomplished some good. It proved to the country at large that the boys in congress are not glued to their chairs.

Pick up the sports section of any American daily these days and you'll find the sports editor is tossing orchids at somebody. Those boys must be in the money. But, seriously, can you imagine the "Terrible Turk" putting on his grunt and groan act with a bunch of orchids decorating his expansive torso?

President of a college down in Virginia says Americans are beginning to show a lack of culture. But the decline is scarcely noticeable, prexy. You will recall that in New York only last week the song, "I've Got Ants in My Pants," was awarded second place in a nationwide contest.

The newest labor-saving device for the home is the mechanical butler. But we presume it will be mighty embarrassing for social climbers to have something standing near the table that can't put its finger in the soup.

Byron News

By Mrs. J. M. Heald
The death of Mrs. Daisy Zellers Thomas last Sunday was a shock to the entire community.

Mrs. Thomas was the only daughter of Daniel and Julia Zellers, born in Rockvale township on July 29, 1880, and on Sept. 16, 1903, was married to Fred Thomas. Since that time until 1932 they lived at Greenbush, Minn., returning to the Zellers' homestead when her mother was in failing health. Her passing was on the same day, May 16, 1935. Her father died several years ago. Besides the husband, Mrs. Thomas is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Lucile Reverts, and Forest Thomas, both of Byron, and four brothers, Leslie of Byron, Frank at home, Charles of Mt. Morris and Maynard of Rockford. The funeral was held from the home at 1:30 p. m. on Wednesday and burial at Silver Creek cemetery. Rev. C. H. Hightower of the Church of the Brethren of which church she was a member, officiated.

Mrs. Thomas was taken seriously ill last November and had been in a critical condition since that time. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bolthaus and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sorenson returned Monday from a weekend trip to Verona where they visited Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Murray.

The annual picnic of Ogle county Federated Women's clubs will be held on June 15 with Byron club as hostess. It is expected to be held at Weld Park if arrangements can be made for conveniences and the members of 11 clubs with their families are invited to come and enjoy the day. If weather is inclement, it will be held at the Byron Community house.

Recently an official photograph was taken from the air of Byron, and has just been released. The air ship was sent out from Wright Field by Col. Frank M. Kennedy who is head of the material department of the field. The photo is excellent, showing every block in the city, railroads, all buildings, cement highway, cemetery, churches, school building bridges, and as far out as the tower. It is most interesting to study.

Memorial exercises will be held in Byron on May 30 under auspices of the American Legion, auxiliary, and W. R. C.

Mrs. Grace Chesman spent the weekend with friends in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. McAllister and daughters Janice May and Donna Lee arrived Wednesday morning from Canyon City, Colo., to spend two weeks with Mrs. McAllister's sister, Mrs. Murry Welty. Mrs.

McAllister will be remembered as Miss Francis Bradstreet and from here the family will visit relatives in Tennessee.

MINER IS HONORED
Springfield, Ill., May 20—(AP)—The National Aeronautic Association presented a certificate of merit and membership today to Charles E. Miner, Illinois Works Progress Administrator, "in appreciation of his efforts in the improvement of principal airports in Illinois."

During 1935, Canada produced $19,012,000 worth of acids, alkalis, and salts.
